Room 162 News
May 2012

Whew! This last month flew by and did not even give me enough time to get a newsletter of class happenings out to all of you! We have been so busy and the year is quickly winding down.

HOMEWORK:

Many students have been forgetting to turn in their reading bookmarks and math homework lately. Please make sure that your student completes and turns this in each week. It is really important for them to learn the responsibility of completing it as well as reinforcing skills we are learning in class.

SNACKS:

We are almost out of snacks for students to have during the school day. If you want your student to have a snack, they can either bring one for themselves from home or send some in with your student for the class to share.

JOURNAL BUDDIES:

We will be doing a fun field day with our journal buddies on June 6th. I need parents to help with that and run a station. The games we will be doing are relay race, croquet, balloon toss, parachute, 3 legged race, and kickball. If you are interested in helping out, please fill out the form attached and send it back with your student. The more help we have, the more smoothly it will run for the students. I appreciate your help!

UNITS OF STUDY:

We are beginning a unit of study on soil and have a lot of fun activities planned for the students. We will also be reviewing money, place value, and addition and subtraction before the end of the year.

DATES TO REMEMBER:

May 24th- Title 1 parent night @6:30
May 28th- no school-Memorial Day
June 5th- Talk about Trees presentation
June 6th- Field Day with buddies
June 8th- Field Day in PE
June 8th- All school awards assembly
June 11th- Last Day- ½ day of school

If you have any questions or concerns, please let me know!
